A MODERN WISE MAN.

There was a man in our town
And he was wondrous wise,
He bought a humped traction line
And boomed it to the skies;
And when he pushed it double par
He sold it out, and then
He hammered it into the ground
And bought it back again.
He played the game for years and years
Till he was worried quite,
For though it knew it had to lose
The crowd would always bite.
At last he bought another line
And quickly merged the two
He turned his hose upon the stock
And soaked it through and through.
The crowd that made a rush for that
You couldn't see for dust;
He loaded it and sal around
To see the thing "go bust."
And when it did he volunteered
To help reorganize;
In payment he received a block
Of stock of goodly size.
The game of boom and sell it out
And watch its certain fall,
Then buy it back, he played until
Once more he owned it all.
All this was many years ago,
But you can safely bet
That if his health is fairly good
He plays the old game yet.

BETTER SCHOOL BUILDINGS

Proposed to Vote $45,000 in City Bonds For Same

The Propositions and Grievance Committee of the City Council and the Property Committee of the Board of Education met in joint session yesterday morning for the purpose of determining the advisability of constructing two modern school buildings, their findings to be reported back to Council for final action.

The two committees visited the High School and Fourth Ward buildings to determine conditions of same, and after a thorough inspection it was the unanimous opinion that said buildings were obsolete and unfit for the purpose, and it was decided to ask the City Council to submit to a vote of the people at the next November election the propriety of issuing $45,000 city bonds, the same to be used in the construction of a High School building, to supplant the buildings now in use in the Third and Fourth Wards, and building for a District school in the First Ward, both to be erected on new locations, and the total cost of same not to exceed $55,000.

The sale of the old buildings and the money in the treasury of the Board of Education would make up the difference of the $45,000 and the $55,000 required.

THE TELEPHONE SITUATION.

A number of the leading business men of Maysville petitioned the Council to give them the same advantages as now enjoyed by Augusta and Brooksville, viz: Telephone connection with Cincinnati and long distance points. The Council, without as much as even referring the matter to a Committee to investigate, promptly tabled a resolution to offer a franchise for sale. Can it be possible that the business men of this city have no rights that Council is bound to respect?

An Insurance Inspector from Somewhere was nosing around in this city a few days ago—looking for an excuse to whack up rates some more, no doubt.

NEW YORK is a poor place to live, and just now it's a poorer place to die. You can't get buried unless the hearse and carriages are driven by Union men.

CERTAIN insurance companies doing business in San Francisco are charging double the rate for insurance on local business that was assessed by them before the recent fire. This will help a little to ease matters with policy holders in other parts of the country, whose rate is to be increased only one-quarter.

HAVING resolved to boycott Bishop McCabe's "World Wide" Methodist Revival because the Methodist Book Concern employs non-Union Printers, the Chicago Federation of Labor is probably preparing the way for a Union Heaven, where good old St. PETER will admit those only who have a Union Label on their harps.

THE President, addressing a delegation of civil service reformers at the White House, said that politics is detrimental to the public service. No doubt of it; and yet I have known both Democratic and Republican Postoffice Clerks who could get at least one-half the letters in the proper boxes, which would be a surprising record for some of the civil service employees.

The Supreme Court of the United States having decided that the state of Kentucky has the right to prevent any insurance Company from doing business in the state, it is now hoped that Kentucky will take the further step and say just how much these foreign insurance companies shall be allowed to charge for doing business in the state.

The correspondent of The Times-Star says a prominent Senator was showing one of his constituents around Washington the other day, and finally went to the Washington Monument. Pointing up to the great shaft, the Senator carelessly asked—

"What do you think of it?"

The farmer looked at it carefully from ground to peak, and then shaking his head, turned to the Senator and said—

"Senator, that's the darndest highest one-story building I have ever seen."

HOW JIMMY FIXED IT.

Harper's Weekly.

A persevering youth had called several times at the home of a young lady, to be met each time with a "not at home." Upon one occasion he had seen her go in just before he reached the gate. His ring was answered by her small brother.

"Jimmy, I'd like to see your sister," the determined young man said.

"She ain't at home," Jimmy said, surveying him disdainfully.

"But I just saw her come in," the youth protested.

"Can't help that. Tell you what I'll do, though,"

Jimmy said, condescendingly. "You give me your pack of cigarettes, and I'll send her down."

"You are too young to smoke, Jimmy."

"Do I get 'em?" Jimmy said, aggressively, half closing the door.

"Here they are!" was the conciliating reply, and the box was handed over. Leaving the visitor sitting in the parlor, Jimmy disappeared, to return in a few minutes.

"She'll be down soon," he said.

"How did you work that, Jimmy?" the youth inquired.

The boy surveyed him with an amused grin.

"Aw, I told her it was the fellow she's engaged to," he said.

Casey's Revenge

BY GRANTLAND HICE IN CLEVELAND NEWS.

There were saddened hearts in Mudville for a week or even more; There were muttered oaths and curses—every fan in town was "sore." "Just think," said one, "how soft it looked with Casey at the bat. And then to think he'd go and spring a hush league trick like that!"

All his past fame was forgotten—he was now a hopeless "shine"—They called him "Strike Out Casey" from the Mayor down the line; And as he came to bat each day his bosom heaved a sigh, While a look of hopeless fury shone in mighty Casey's eye.

He pondered in the days gone by that he had been their King, That when he stroled up to the plate they made the welkin ring; But now his nerve had vanished—for when he heard them hoot, He "fanned" or "popped out" daily, like some minor league recruit.

He soon began to sulk and loaf—his hatting eye went lame; No home runs on the score card now were chalked against his name. The fans without exception gave the manager no peace, For one and all kept clamoring for Casey's quick release.

The Mudville squad began to slump—the team was in the air; Its playing went from bad to worse—nobody seemed to care. "Back to the woods with Casey!" was the cry from Rooters' Row. "Get some one who can hit the ball and let that big 'dub' go."

The lane is long, some one has said, that never turns again, And Fate, though fickle, often gives another chance to men; And Casey smiled—his rugged face no longer wore a frown—The pitcher who had started all the trouble came to town.

All Mudville had assembled—ten thousand fans had come To see the twirler who had put big Casey on the bum; And when he stepped into the box the multitude went wild. He doffed his cap in proud disdain, but Casey only smiled.

"Play ball!" the umpire's voice rang out, and then the game began, But in that throng of thousands there was not a single fan Who thought that Mudville had a chance, and, with the setting sun, Their hopes sank low—the rival team was leading "four to one."

The last half of the ninth came round, with no change in the score; But when the first man up hit safe the crowd began to roar. The din increased—the echo of ten thousand shouts were heard When the pitcher hit the second and gave "four balls" to the third.

Three men on base—nobody out—three runs to tie the game! A triple meant the highest niche in Mudville's Hall of Fame; But here the rally ended and the gloom was deep as night, When the fourth one "fanned to catcher" and the fifth "flew out to right."

A dismal groan in chorus came—a scowl was on each face—When Casey walked up, bat in hand, and slowly took his place. His bloodshot eye in fury gleamed—his teeth were clenched in hate; He gave his cap a vicious hook and pounded on the plate.

But fame is fleeting as the wind and glory fades away. There were no wild and woolly cheers—no glad acclaim this day; They hissed and groaned and hooted as they clamored, "Strike him out!" But Casey gave no outward sign that he had heard this about.

The pitcher smiled and cut one loose—across the plate it sped—Another hiss—another groan—"STRIKE ONE!" the umpire said. Zip! Like a shot the second curve broke just below his knee—"STRIKE TWO!" the umpire roared aloud—but Casey made no plea.

No roasting for the umpire now—his was an easy lot; But here the pitcher twirled again—was that a rifle shot? A whack—a crack—and out through space the leather pellet flew—A hit against the distant sky—a speck against the blue.

Above the fence in center field, in rapid whirling flight, The sphere sailed on—the blot grew dim and then was lost to sight. Ten thousand hats were thrown in air—ten thousand throats a fit—But no one ever found the ball that mighty Casey hit.

Oh, somewhere in this favored land dark clouds may hide the sun, And somewhere hands no longer play and children have no fun; And somewhere, over lighted lives, there hangs a heavy pall; But Mudville hearts are happy now—FOR CASEY HIT THE BALL!

OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MISS MERKLEY

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It.

When a physician tells a woman suffering with serious feminine trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for just such operations.

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of menacing female troubles cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Miss Margaret Merkley, of 275 Third Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: "Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, shooting pains through the pelvic organs, bearing down pains and cramps compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said I had a female trouble and ulceration and advised an operation. To this I strongly objected and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The ulceration quickly healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared and I am once more strong, vigorous and well."

Female troubles are steadily on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful, or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing-down pains, don't neglect yourself; try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

EXPULSION FROM SCHOOL

Former Maysville Boy Attacks Professor in Chicago University

After he had been ousted from Northwestern University Medical School, William E. Wallace, a student in the Chemistry Department, attacked Prof. Davis C. Eccles, a member of the Faculty, who, he charged, was responsible for his dismissal. Wallace was arrested, but released on bond later.

According to Wallace, his dismissal resulted after he had appropriated Prof. Eccles's burette, a small glass instrument used in measuring liquids in chemical tests, Tuesday. Wallace admitted taking the instrument, but denied he had stolen it. "While I was at work in the laboratory Tuesday my burette fell to the floor and was broken," he said. "I then appropriated Dr. Eccles's instrument. I did not intend keeping the burette, but left it in my desk. When I appeared at the school I learned that Prof. Eccles intended laying the matter before the Faculty, and was told I had been charged with theft and asked to report to the Faculty in the afternoon. Despite the fact that I had spent $1,200 while studying at the school and was to have been graduated in three weeks, I was not given a chance to speak and was dismissed. I intended taking out an injunction in the hope that I will be reinstated."

Prof. Eccles is Assistant Instructor in advanced chemistry, and speaking of the affair said: "I accused Wallace of theft and the Faculty decided to expel him. He met me in the rotunda of the Northwestern University Building later, then followed me to Clark street, where he attacked me."

Mr. Wallace is a native of this city, 22 years old and married. He is a son of Mr. J. Plister Wallace, who lately removed to Chicago, and he is a remarkably promising young man. His friends here feel sure that his statement of the case is correct, and that he has been unjustly accused and treated.

TERRIBLE ITCHING SCALP HUMOR

Badly Affected With Sores and Crusts—Extended Down Behind the Ears—Some Years Later Painful and Itching Pustules Broke Out on Lower Part of Body—Son Also Affected.

A TRIPLE CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"About ten years ago my scalp became badly affected with sore and itching humors, crusts, etc., and extending down behind the ears. My hair came out in places also. I was greatly troubled; understood it was eczema. Tried various remedies, so called, without effect. Saw your Cuticura advertisement, and got them at once. Applied them as to directions, etc., and after two weeks, I think, of use, was clear as a whistle."

"I have to state also that late last fall, October and November, 1904, I was suddenly afflicted with a bad eruption, painful and itching pustules over the lower part of the body. I suffered dreadfully. In two months, under the skillful treatment of my doctor, conjoined with Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, I found myself cured."

"Six years ago my son was laid up with a severe cold, a hard cough, and finally painful eruption all over the body. I procured the Cuticura Remedies as soon as possible, and after his faithful use of same was as well as ever in two weeks, as well as I can recall. He has never had a return of the illness, as far as I know."

"I have always been pleased to commend the Cuticura Remedies, and testify as to their efficacy. I am a veteran of the late Civil War, '61-'65, between seventy and eighty years of age. Yours truly, H. M. F. Weiss, Rosemond, Christian Co., Ill., Aug. 31, 1905."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for every humor, from Pimples to Scrofula, from Itchiness to Age, consisting of Cuticura Soap, 25c. Cuticura Ointment, 25c. Resolvent, 50c. SPRINGDALE.

Dr. C. W. Hook went to Cincinnati Monday. Messrs. Charles Holt and James Martin are here from California, O.

Mr. Robert Hook is at home "awaiting orders" from the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Mr. S. B. Tully came down from Garrison Wednesday for a brief visit to his parents here.

Mr. W. S. Fletcher, who is now "resting on the oars," was a pleasant visitor here Wednesday.

Mr. Malcomb Eads, a Campbell county pedagogue, was here interviewing our Trustees Wednesday.

Mrs. Preston Martin and children returned home Tuesday, after a few days visit with her parents here.

No rain in this vicinity since March. From May 5th to 11th there were heavy frosts each morning, the latter date showing ice in abundance, since which time the mercury gently ascended until Wednesday it stood at 92° in the shade—a jump of more than 60°. This certainly is a record for May.

There is an old adage which says—
 "When locust trees in May are white
 The corn crop will all hearts delight
 When locust trees in May are brown
 The farmers' hopes are all cast down."
 As the locust is now laden with its fragrant white bloom, the farmer may begin planning repairs for his corncrib.

Mr. Robert Girvin had a fine four-year-old mare, for which he had refused $150. It was gay with life and health at noon Monday; Tuesday evening it was found in the pasture dead, with its throat cut. Mr. Girvin is at a loss to account for it, as he had no such known vicious enemies, nor could any accidental cause be discovered. It had apparently received the wound near the spring and had wandered around covering nearly a mile before dropping from exhaustion.

Mr. Edward Kelley is mourning the loss of a fine tobacco bed that he had watered and petted 'til it was indeed valuable, considering the drought. One night recently a herd of his neighbors' horses got into it, and to use his own language, harring a few—er, well, epithets—"they chewed up my canvas, for which I paid 25 cents per yard; they rolled all over my plants and they pawed holes in the bed in which I could bury a bushel basket," &c., &c.

The cool weather last week reminds one of a cold spell in May, 1894. The weather had been warm through April and the early part of May. Gardens were made, flowers were in bloom, corn and potatoes were up and summer seemed fairly established. Suddenly the weather turned cold, and on the morning of May 20th the ground was covered with snow to the depth of 2 inches. One of the phenomenal sights seen, and one never to be forgotten by the writer, was the fir trees with their lovely new growth of light green, blending with the old growth of dark green for a background, with red peonies and rosebushes in full bloom for a foreground, all bending low with their unusual weight of "the beautiful." All the family were called to look at this weirdly beautiful scene, which, if transferred to canvas, would have been pronounced an "impossible picture." The sun came up and soon transformed this fantastic and rarely beautiful scene to one of blight and decay. More pathetic, however, than frost bitten flowers or gardens, or even the blighted fruit, was the condition of the sheep, which had just been sheared, and, altho hurried into the barn, a few of them died from the chill. Since that year, on this particular farm, at least, sheep are never sheared 'til the very last days of May.

Golden Rule Lodge No. 5, I. O. O. F., of Georgetown has won the anniversary prize offered by the Grand Lodge of Kentucky for the Lodge which should initiate the largest number of new members between December 1st last and May 1st of this year. The prize consists of $150 worth of Lodge paraphernalia. The number of members admitted during the five months was seventy-five.

Judge Cochran Orders Caleb Powers's Removal From Newport

Attorney General Hays appeared before Judge A. M. J. Cochran in the United States Court at London Tuesday and entered a motion asking that the mandate of the United States Supreme Court in the Caloh Powers case dismissing the writ of habeas corpus cum causa granted by this Court and remanding the case from the Federal Court back to the State Court, be filed.

The motion was sustained and the mandate filed and noted of record.

An order was then entered directing United States Marshal Sharp to proceed immediately and take Powers from the custody of the Jailor of Campbell county at Newport, and deliver him to the Jailor of Scott county at Georgetown, where he was previously confined, to be subject to the orders of the Scott Circuit Court.

General Hays then asked the Court to enter a judgment against Powers for $745, costs incurred in the Supreme Court. Judge Cochran refused to do this, stating the Supreme Court had already adjudged this cost against him.

The costs in the United States Circuit Court are $387.

Itching piles is constant torment—so is eczema.

No comfort all day, no rest at night. Can't keep your mind on work. No need to go to bed.

Suffer no longer; use Doan's Ointment. It gives relief in five or ten minutes. It cures in a short time—cures you to stay cured.

Maysville people endorse it.

Mrs. S. F. Tolle, of 117 Short street, Maysville, Ky., says:

"Before I used Doan's Ointment, in March, 1900, I had suffered for a long while with itching hemorrhoids. I had tried persistently to rid myself of the trouble but without success, and anybody who has known the tortures of this complaint will understand what I suffered. Doan's Ointment, procured at J. J. Wood & Son's Drugstore, cured me, as stated in a testimonial given at that time, and during the five years past I have had no return of the trouble. It required only one box to bring this gratifying result. I have used Doan's Ointment for other purposes, and find that it is a specific for skin troubles and all itching diseases."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitutes.
